

Research

Local Foods

ISU Horticulture Research Station

Produce grown through research and internships at the Horticulture Research Station is sold to the university community, wholesale to growers, and local grocery stores to help support the farm.

Internships

ISU Dining

Locally distributed in 2016

- 46 tons of apples
- 12 tons of vegetables
- 5 tons of other fruit crops
- Local food pantries received all non-marketed crops

Grocery Stores

Growers

Food Lo.Cals Web Sales

ISU Horticulture Research Station
55519 170th street Ames, IA.
Nick Howell Superintendent

